

William B. Ogden Free Library
WIRELESS INTERNET CONNECTION POLICY

Welcome to the William B. Ogden Free Library's wireless Internet connection. This service is provided free of charge on an "as is" basis subject to the terms and conditions of use as follows:

- The William B. Ogden Free Library's Internet and Computer Use Policy applies to any use of the library's wireless access.
- Users are expected to use the wireless network in a legal and responsible manner. Violation of Federal, New York State or local laws, including but not limited to the transmission or viewing of pornography, harmful material, fraud, hacking, spamming, and illegal downloading or use of copyrighted material is prohibited.
- Information passing through the library's wireless access is not secured and could be monitored, captured, or altered by others.
- Library staff is unable to provide technical assistance. The library assumes no responsibility for laptop configurations, security, or changes to data files resulting from connecting to the library's network. There is no guarantee that you will be able to make a wireless connection.
- It is the wireless user's sole responsibility to protect his/her information from all risks associated with the Internet, including any damage, loss, or theft that may occur as a result of using the library's wireless access.
- The library assumes no responsibility for the safety of the user's equipment. Do not leave your equipment unattended.
- In using this wireless Internet access, the user agrees and hereby releases, indemnifies, and holds harmless William B. Ogden Free Library and its employees from any damage that may result in their use of the wireless access.
- Printing is not available via the wireless access.
- The library has a limited number of electrical outlets (none with surge protectors).
